Updated May 25, 2021

Since 2007, Monster Rod holders are built Monster strong to handle the larger hard running freshwater fish, such as catfish and stripers. Designed by a competitive catfish tournament angler, the rod holders are made of 1/2 in. steel covered with a thick plastic coating to protect your rods and are constructed with an extra-large rod butt rest for easy rod removal when the rod is loaded.

When setting up a catfish boat with rod holders, the Rod holder placement on your boat should be based your favorite fishing methods.

Here are some rod holder layout options from Monster Rod Holders based on the style of fishing catfish anglers prefer and used by many our Professional Pro Staff anglers.

The style of the rod holder is also important when deciding on your layout.

Each rod holder layout option gives anglers total versatility in the way they approach their techniques.
